Harmony In A Major Key

The COLONEL

NINETEEN HUNDRED SIXTY FOUR
ROANOKE, VIRGINIA

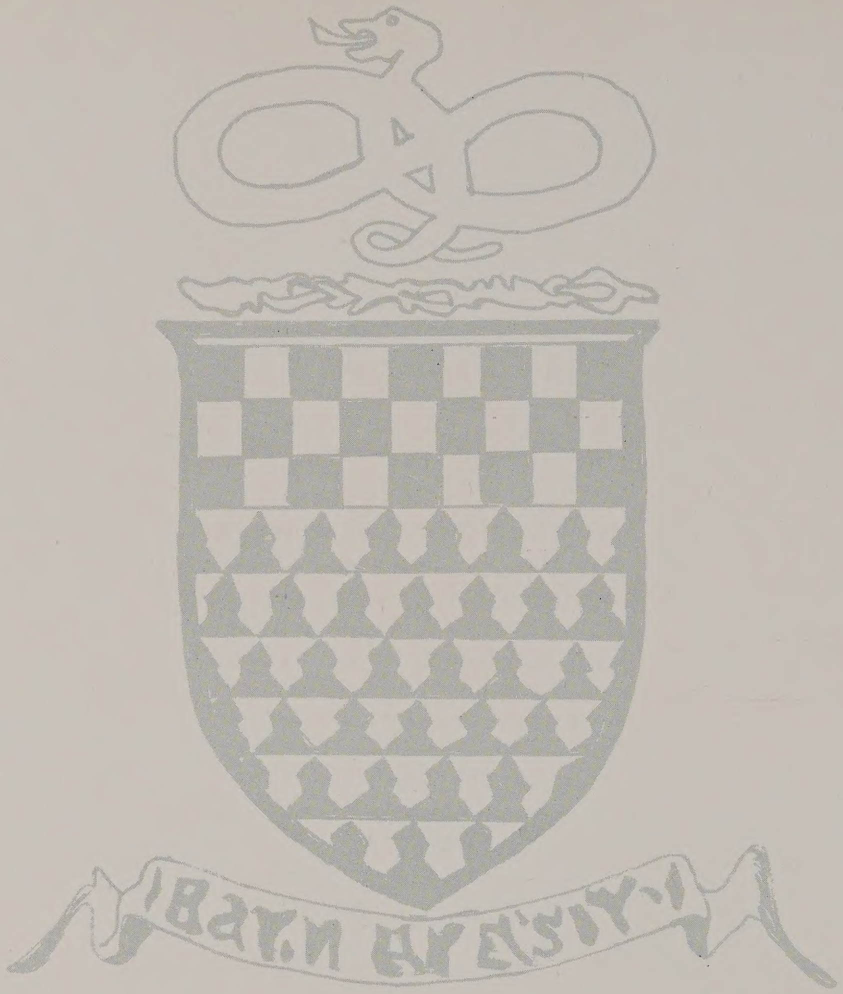
Just as it takes the complete discipline of a musician to produce music from his instrument, so does it take the discipline of each student to produce a melody within school life. Each unit of our school-within-a-school layout represents concord that forms the symphony of students.

The first glimpse of the structure of our new school may have given rise to the thought that a school divided against itself could not stand. But, just as a musical composition is composed through a balance of tones, so can we balance the tones of school life to achieve harmony in education.

We at Fleming have been given an unparalleled chance to emanate harmony that is a composite of individual effort. Combining our single efforts to complement the whole, we must keep our tempo of learning in unison with a steady rhythm so that our knowledge will create HARMONY IN A MAJOR KEY.

"Harmony in a Major Key" was well carried out in the drama department's fall production of Dear Ruth. Newell Smith, Chuck Fogus, David Wright, Jimmie Allman, Ray Martin, Gary Stoner, and Harold Shupe harmonize as Pam Rhodes accompanies at the piano.

This is the story of the unity we seek . . .



Colonel William Fleming, for whom our school is named was born in Scotland, February 29, 1729. He came to America at twenty-six, having studied medicine in Edinburgh. His first commission was under George Washington in The French and Indian War, and it was during this period that he gained notice as a military leader. He came to what is now Roanoke County in 1770 to help organize the new county of Botetourt, of which Roanoke was then a part. He married Nancy Christian and built a home which still stands just north of the city. He subsequently fought in the Revolutionary War, was in the Virginia Senate, and helped establish several Virginia schools. We again, as in the past, include in our yearbook the seal of the Fleming family. The scepter surmounted by a coiled serpent indicates his royal birth. The checkerboard is the symbol of a great huntsman. The figures beneath, called greyhounds, are the mark of brave and daring fighters. The translation of the motto is "May the King live forever".

A Dedication to Harmony

One whose life is built upon a full measure of service to school and community has surrounded our school with harmony. Creating a choral atmosphere through concerts and assemblies, she has instilled an indelible sense of the values of music.

Honors won throughout her fourteen years at Fleming have procured marked recognition for her department and our school. Numerous invitations to perform for outside organizations, local and visiting, have been received and accepted. Her words to the Alma Mater have been sung and remembered by students and graduates for the past decade.

To evince our esteem and affection for her devotion and her contribution to our "Harmony in a Major Key", we dedicate this 1964 Colonel to Mrs. June C. Webb.

FACULTY and CURRICULUM

The faculty, who were the composers, wrote together the symphony that was the curriculum.

Eleven new faculty members became members of the group, and together with former instructors, began work on Fleming's contribution to the city wide School Improvement study. The faculty met once a week, either in small segments or all together, to evaluate present methods and formulate plans for advancement in all phases of school life.

The curriculum, which was expanded to include more advanced courses and more specialized classes, marked the growth and change that typifies the goal of all American education; namely, to give all students the best training which good facilities and carefully planned courses can offer.

ADMINISTRATION

During the summer months the administration prepared for the coming school year. Dr. Rushton, Superintendent of Roanoke City Schools, and the Central Administration developed the city-wide School Improvement Program. Mr. Coulter formulated the master schedule, interviewed parents of transfer students, and attended a Principal's Association Conference in El Paso, Texas. The three deans worked on scheduling both teachers and pupils and Mr. Miller organized the year's activities and budgeted the school's finances. The secretaries kept records and files up to date and helped the other office personnel.

Miss Frances Sanderson, Mrs. Mary Cline and Mrs. Mary Pilson are secretaries in the main office.

MATH

Modern textbooks brought a complete revolution in the mathematics program. Part of this new approach included the combination of plane and solid geometry, and of the second year algebra and trigonometry courses. Programmed texts were continued in the studies of geometry, algebra, and trigonometry. Junior contract classes, composed of students who had "contracted" to stay in the same group throughout high school, studied trig, college algebra, and solid geometry, while analytical geometry and an introduction to calculus were studied in the senior contract class. Business math students learned arithmetic processes and skills necessary in today's offices.

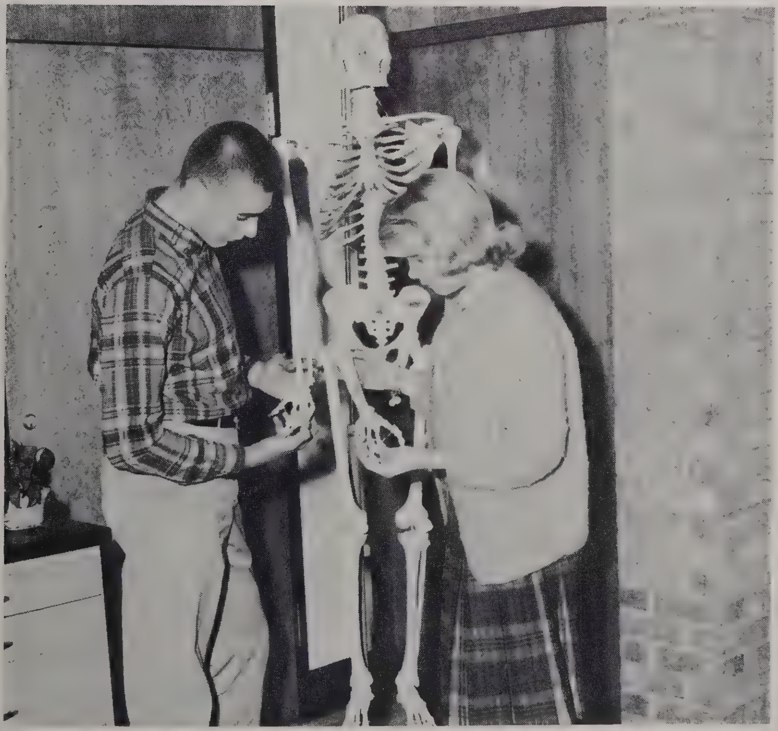
SCIENCE



Lectures, movies, field trips, research, and practical application of knowledge gained enriched students who were enrolled in science classes. The addition of a closed circuit television set, loaned to the science department by the school board, was a great audio-visual asset to all courses. Chemistry classes enjoyed an increase in enrollment. Greater use was made of the green houses and laboratory analysis in biology classes. A field trip to Roanoke Memorial Hospital and the Roanoke Regional Blood Center supplemented the advanced biology class's study of blood.

ENGLISH

Complete revision of Fleming's traditional English program was initiated in the 1963-64 term. Juniors and seniors were grouped together in various specialized one-semester courses of speech, composition, or literature. The new approaches of team-teaching and seminar groups continued in sophomore classes. Like the unqiue layout of the school campus, the program represented another step toward the college aspect. The success of the revised program which allowed development of individual interests and abilities far outweighed the few inconveniences of scheduling.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Awareness of history and government and an understanding of the events of each day were stressed in the social studies classes. American history classes did research regarding the factors leading to the Civil War, and re-enacted the election of 1860. World history students learned how civilization developed from its earliest beginnings. Government students gained awareness from current events reports from the newspaper, and made booklets, posters and bulletin board displays on various phases of government. Students in the advanced history class supplemented their studies in history and government by taking a trip to Washington in May.

LANGUAGES

As more students realized the necessity of knowing a second language, Latin, Spanish, German, and French courses each enjoyed increased enrollment. Besides translating from the text, French scholars took time out to translate "Dominique", a French song that became popular in America. In German, a partnership arrangement was introduced as Mr. Coulter and Mr. Hudson exchanged German classes every other week. Fundamentos de Espanol was a familiar text in studying Spanish grammar, while Spanish records and slides aided in the study of the land and its history. In Latin classes, Caesar and Cicero were read "ad infinitum".

LIBRARY

Approximately twenty-two hundred books were added to the library during the year, bringing the total number of volumes to well over eleven thousand three hundred. Daily circulation, as well as reference work, has doubled since the library opened two years ago. Checking books in and out and assisting in finding reference materials, Mrs. Nancy Falls, librarian, and Mrs. Susie Muddiman, library clerk, served an average of three hundred-fifty students a day.

BUSINESS

As a parallel to the academic courses of the college-bound students, courses in personal typing and notehand were offered. Notehand is a personal notemaking process that equips the student with a briefer, easy-to-learn, writing method to make notes more rapidly and easily than he could in longhand. Personal typing emphasizes only the major fundamentals of typing which are helpful in writing term papers and other college material.

Acquired business skills and techniques were exercised on jobs through the Vocational Office Training program. Business students found interest and challenge in general business and in the regular typing and shorthand classes; and on-the-job training was gained through the Distributive Education Class.

FINE ARTS

Individual and group expression is found in the humanities courses, music, dramatics, and art. Concerts in assemblies by the choir and band gave the student body a sample of their award winning harmony. In the art department, stone mosaics and wax sculptures were created, and paintings were displayed in the various halls. Besides the routine drills in speaking and parliamentary procedure, drama and speech students presented a unique Halloween assembly and the Christmas play.

PRACTICAL ARTS

A diversified program was offered to students in practical arts. Home economics classes studied budgeting, house planning, child care and family life in other countries, as well as cooking and sewing. A new course which condensed the vital skills and knowledge of four years into one year was added for juniors and seniors who had had no previous background in home economics. In industrial arts, units on ceramics, electricity and woodworking were offered with emphasis on research, plans of procedure and safety practices. Mechanical drawing classes learned the fundamentals of mechanics and architectural design.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Because physical fitness is so important in today's world, sophomores, juniors, and some seniors participated in a rigid physical education program designed to keep them in good condition. All classes began with vigorous exercises, followed by a seasonal sport. In the fall boys played football, and girls played volleyball. Later both groups played basketball and golf and learned the fundamentals of tumbling and gymnastics. Boys also wrestled and ran track, and girls participated in archery, bowling, and softball. In the spring the girls presented a demonstration in gymnastics and modern dance, inviting the participation of junior high classes.

GUIDANCE

Guidance counselors found time between counseling sessions and schedule changes to conduct special night meetings on the various grade levels in order to bring information directly to parents. A vocational library was instituted for extensive use in the guidance department, and various aptitude and scholarship tests such as the Airman Qualifying Test, the W.R.N.S. Quiz from the University of Richmond and the Virginia Employment Commission's vocational test were administered. Also, the College Board Advanced Placement Examination was given to college bound seniors who wished to eliminate some required college courses by excelling on these tests.

CLASSES

The largest student body in the history of the new school had opportunity to play in a minor as well as a major key, but the dominant chord was one of concord. The seniors, secure in the expectation of being the first graduating class to have completed three years in the present location, made plans for college or for joining the sometimes cacophonous world of workers. The juniors, increasingly aware of the need for looking to the future, took PSAT tests, examined college catalogs and began to learn the opportunities for employment. The sophomores learned quickly that high school offered challenges for self-direction and quickly fitted into the symphony of school life.

SENIOR CLASS

In the harmony of Fleming's school life, the seniors of '64 represent the whole notes. They had the distinction of being the first class to complete three years at the new school.

Miss Jean Ferguson served as head sponsor along with Mr. Joe Ferguson and Mrs. Virginia Boyd. Early evidence of senior distinction was displayed by class rings, which arrived in late summer, prior to the start of school. In February, the class presented an assembly, "These Were the Years That Were," in which they re-enacted the outstanding events of their high school life. The organization of city government was viewed by seniors on Municipal Day. Spring activities were highlighted by Senior Day, the Senior Banquet, and the Prom. Dr. Charles Fuller spoke at the Baccalaureate service, and student speakers at graduation were Carol Pearn, Tommy Nicodemus, Lynn Dent, Jane Mills, Judy Lewis, Ray Sirry, and Ruby Scott. The theme was taken from a selection by Lincoln Steffens, entitled "Preparing for College."

As graduation became a reality, seniors, as whole notes, realized that the education now completed represents a prelude to a complete score of music, symbolizing the harmony of life.

Responsibilities of junior life were successfully completed by four-hundred and fifty half-notes. Mrs. Dorothy Brown, head sponsor, and Mrs. Roma Gustin, Mr. Douglas Hudson, and Mrs. Catherine Loomis in Camper, Hart, and Smith Halls, respectively, guided the class officers in planning the Junior-Senior Prom with the theme of "April Showers." In turn, juniors cooperated with the officers in serving on prom committees.

"Go West, Young Man," the Juniors' version of the founding of the school, was presented to the student body in March. PSAT, STEP, SCAT, National Merit and College Boards were taken to test abilities and qualifications for college entrance. Vigorous campaigning preceded the election and installation of SCA officers. By actively supporting athletic and extra-curricular events, juniors prepared for their role as whole notes.

Students enjoy music of the Divots at the prom.

Harry Wise, member of the Teen Safety Council, reports to sophomore SCA homeroom representatives, Susan Peters, Dixie Knowles, Katherine Lilly, and Shirley Cullop.

Completing the major chords the sophomores, as the quarter notes joined the melody of the student body. As students from Breckinridge and Monroe Jr. Highs blending in ever-increasing harmony, they adjusted to the campus and formed a united group.

While taking the traditional biology and physical education courses, they worked with counselors to plan their high school courses in accordance with their future goals.

They presented an assembly, "The Bill Fleming Show", a take-off on the "Tonight" television program, in competition with the junior and senior classes.

Learning cheers, the Alma Mater, the school song, and joining extra curricular activities, the sophomores added the indivdual melodies of their lives to the complete harmony of the school.

Mrs. Mary Pittman explains new IBM report cards to her sophomore homeroom.

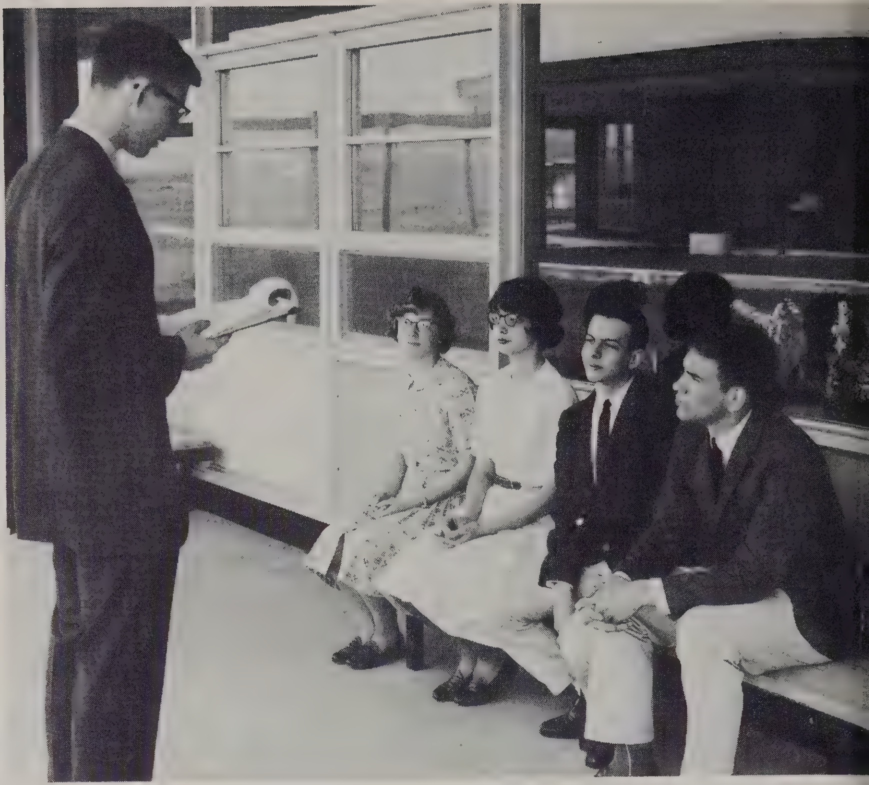
These are the grace notes . . .

ACTIVITIES

Activities are the grace notes in the harmony of a school, providing the outlets for the creative interests and talents of the student body. Whether offered in connection with public service organizations, as extensions of elective subjects, for advancement of school cooperation and spirit, or for recognition of scholarship, leadership and achievement, extracurricular activities enabled students to complete the melody of their school environment.

Field trips, group forums, assemblies, competition in science, forensic meets, and language contests spurred individual incentive and provided the small grace notes without which school life would lose much of its melody.

Beginning with the yearly signing of the Honor Code cards, the S.C.A. began the year with the aim to impress upon the student body the importance of every student actively participating in the S.C.A. This was accomplished partly through suggestion boxes in each hall, better reporting by homeroom representatives, and the printing of the student directory. The S.C.A. also printed and distributed student handbooks which gave the history, course offerings, and extra-curricular activities of Fleming. The major change executed by the S.C.A. concerned the election of the four school-wide officers. After three days of campaigning the presidential and vice-presidential candidates spoke in assembly for a limited time on three subjects pertinent to school interest. The candidates for secretary-treasurer and historian spoke for one minute giving their qualifications for the office they were seeking.



Johnny Winn explains S. C. A. election rules to candidates Kay Pulliam, Nikki Huff, Jimmy Cobb, and Skip Kidd.

Beta Club offers tutoring service

New Beta Club members Johnny Winn, Mike Hagan, David Hammond, Jackie Engle, Gary Stoner, and Harry Colman perform in "Wild West Weakling" at the spring banquet.

Leadership, character, achievement, and service: these qualities constituted an integral part of the Beta Club. Through participation in many club activities, each member strove to exhibit these traits. During the football season programs were sold at the games by club members, and in November the Beta assembly was presented to the school. After mid-term the annual banquet was held at which time about fifty new members were inducted into the club. Also a tutoring service was offered to classmates who needed assistance. As a service project for the school, dictionaries were purchased for the classrooms to aid both teachers and students.

Butch Eanes, Sue Moler, Mary Via, Bobby Wampler, Susan Slusher, Doug Slusher, Diane Moyer, Danny Collins, Donna Wright, and Jimmy Ferrell were delegates to All-State choir.

Harmonizing for the benefit of both school and community, the choir performed for varied audiences. After an assembly in the fall, they began preparing for the annual Christmas concerts at Huntington Court Methodist Church and the Crossroads Mall and a television program on Christmas Day. They also performed at Hotel Roanoke for the Virginia Personnel and Guidance Convention, for the P.T.A., and in the spring festival at Breckinridge. The Easter assembly, a sacred program, the spring concert with the band, and music for graduation ended the year.

Virginia's representative to the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C., the William Fleming High School Band, won an honorable mention as one of the top ten bands in eastern half of the nation. Following the fund raising concert in March, the band released a long playing record including popular and symphonic selections. They appeared during halftime at all football games and performed at the Bridgewater College homecoming festivities. Eighteen band members merited positions in the All-State Band which held a workship and concert at Giles County High School in February.

Stage Band members began an active and exciting year serenading the winner at the Virginia Junior Miss Pageant at Hotel Roanoke in October. Their performance for the Virginia Personnel and Guidance Association drew praise from a widespread area. Following this event, they played at a mass stage band concert in Richmond under the direction of "Doc" Severenson, often seen on the "Tonight" show.

Providing a variety of music for students at home basketball games, the Pep Band added to the rising spirit at Fleming. Members also performed at the "Powder Puff" football game and played as the varsity basketball team left for the state tournament in Richmond.

Through constant practice, the Majorettes synchronized their routines to the band's tempo. Money from bake sales, contributions from interested patrons, and a percentage from the concession stands at home basketball games provided the necessary funds for new tassels and flags. During the Christmas holidays, the Majorettes held their annual banquet at Jane Mills' house. In the Shrine Bowl parade in October, and the Washington Cherry Blossom and Vinton Dogwood festivals in April, Majorettes performed locally and nationally with the band.

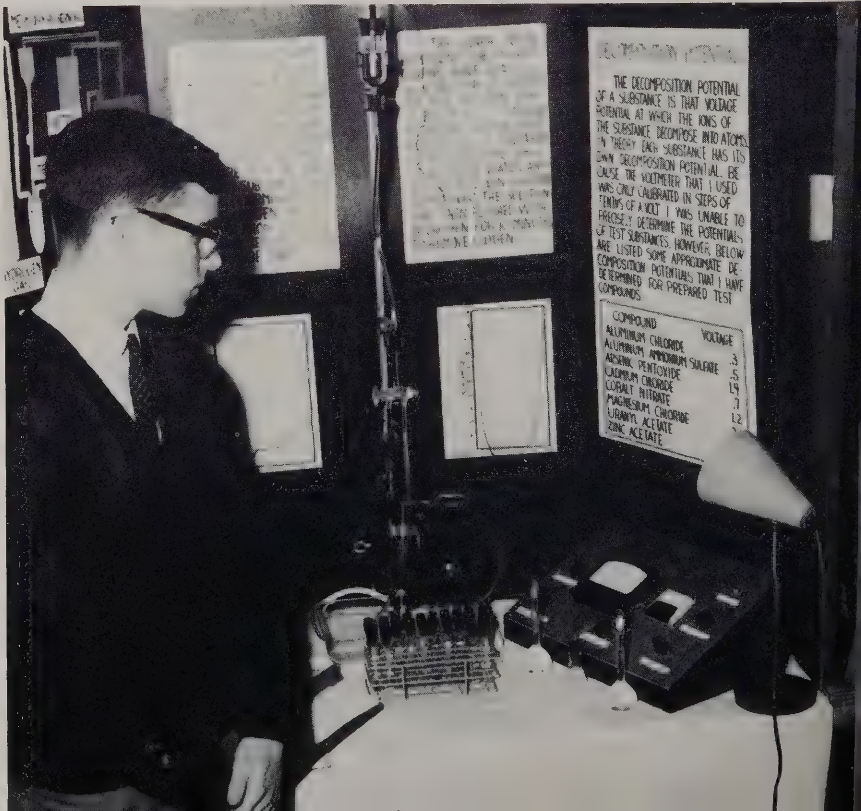
To stimulate interest in science, the Science Club members participated in the city Science Fair, winning nine awards, and sent these members to the regional Science Fair, in which J. P. Neathawk won the summer naval cruise. The club made field trips to Roanoke Memorial Hospital, Veterans' Administration Hospital and Diamond Plastics, and several speakers addressed the club. Ronnie Basham and Bob Shell attended the Virginia Junior Academy of Science. An assembly and a talk on Tel-Star by Mr. Nelson Martin of Bell Telephone Company were other club projects.



THE DECOMPOSITION POTENTIAL OF A SUBSTANCE IS THAT VOLTAGE POTENTIAL AT WHICH THE IONS OF THE SUBSTANCE DECOMPOSE INTO ATOMS. IN THEORY EACH SUBSTANCE HAS ITS OWN DECOMPOSITION POTENTIAL. BECAUSE THE VOLTMETER THAT I USED WAS ONLY CALIBRATED IN STEPS OF TENTHS OF A VOLT I WAS UNABLE TO PRECISELY DETERMINE THE POTENTIALS OF TEST SUBSTANCES. HOWEVER, BELOW ARE LISTED SOME APPROXIMATE DECOMPOSITION POTENTIALS THAT I HAVE DETERMINED FOR PREPARED TEST COMPOUNDS.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dean L. Egge, Art Club members visited the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond during November to see King Tut's tomb. In the spring the club viewed exhibits at Hollins College and the Roanoke Fine Arts Center. Trophies in the gym showcase were rearranged into a more effective display and pictures were rented through the Fine Arts Center to be exhibited next year. A twenty foot mural depicting scenes from the life of Colonel William Fleming was completed, presented to the school in the awards assembly, and hung in the central office.

Patty Jefferson, Judy Solomon, president; Sue Dean, Ann Ruff, Mr. Dean Egge, sponsor; Susan Coleman, and Linda Haffen study layout in magazines before Art Club meeting is called to order.

Providing Fleming students with an accurate account of school activities was the chief service of the Sabre staff throughout the year. The paper was published bi-weekly. Linda Haffen and Gayle Hawkins served as delegates from the staff to S.I.P.A. during early May. The winner of the Most Valuable Staffer Award was determined, and the award was presented to Patsy Saunders by a member of the Roanoke World News staff at the awards assembly at the end of the year.

Working during and after school and in the summer, Colonel staff members tried to portray the school's harmony through words and pictures. Even under the full coverage plan, in which the entire year's activities were recorded and the books delivered in August, deadlines loomed as ever-present demons. Three delegates, Don Roberts, Dale Showalter, and Ann Howard, attended the S.I.P.A. convention at Washington and Lee University in May. The entire staff enjoyed parties at Christmas and the end of the year.

Jr. Red Cross works to save blood center

Kathryn Reynolds, head of the Red Cross blood donor drive, writes a report on progress.

Representatives from each homeroom met with representatives from other schools to form a City Wide Council of the Junior Red Cross. Billie Wilkerson served as student director and Katherine Reynolds, Carolyn Minter, and Susan Angle were co-chairmen. During the year the organization sought to save the Regional Blood Center by sponsoring two high school blood donor days. By putting up posters and making telephone calls to individuals, Junior Red Cross representatives tried to stress the importance of donating blood. Volunteers assisted at the Red Cross Blood Center by taking temperatures, registering donors, providing transportation, and giving a free car wash to donors. They also assisted the Cancer Society in putting up posters.

Thespians present "Poor Maddelena" on television

On stage, everyone! The overture had begun for the fall play, Dear Ruth, and almost before the final curtain went down on that production, Thespians were making preparations for the Christmas season. For the fifth year, the Yule story unfolded in the presentation of "A Child Is Born". Following in quick succession were two one act plays, "Poor Maddelena" and "Parting at Imsdorf". Just as quickly as it had begun, the production of Gramercy Ghost signaled the closing curtain for the year.

Creative writing classes contributed to the Literary Club's magazine, "The Beacon", which was submitted to the Virginia High School League for judging. Debaters, coached by Mrs. Genevieve Dickinson, practiced with other area teams, and readers and speakers spent many hours in preparation for the District Forensics contest, which was held at Fleming on April 11. Their work was rewarded as five members, Judy Lewis, Glenn Hammond, Ray Sirry, Charles Maloney, and Margaret Gardner, won the right to compete in the state meet held at the University of Virginia in May. Charles Maloney was chosen state champion in boys' prose reading.

Striving to attain Christian goals, Y-Teens performed numerous services for community and school. One of the major undertakings was the T.B. drive. Religious assemblies were held at Thanksgiving, featuring a chorus composed of eight teachers, and at Easter, with Rev. Lonnie E. Quillen as speaker. Spirit and sportsmanship were displayed in the Powder Puff football game, first in the school's history, which was played against Patrick Henry. Other highlights included the Christmas Ball, the state convention in Richmond attended by Pat Kelly and Nikki Huff, and a project on Germany exhibited at the Y.W.C.A. Club sponsors were Mrs. Doris Egge and Mrs. Hilda Jessee in Camper Hall, Mrs. Mabel Marmion in Hart Hall, and Mrs. Billie Wright in Smith Hall.

Hi-Y boys attend Model General Assembly

Emphasizing Christian ideals, the Hi-Y Club attempted throughout the year to uphold the Hi-Y platform of sportsmanship, clean speech, high scholarship, and wholesome living.

Meeting twice each month, the club sponsored several worthwhile projects. The biggest and most beneficial of these was the delivery of the school's Christmas baskets, which were donated to needy families. In addition, club members printed and sold programs at the school-sponsored regional wrestling tournament, and sent four delegates to the Y.M.C.A.'s model General Assembly in Richmond.

Delegates to the Model General Assembly were Raymond Naff, reporter; Johnny Winn, delegate; Reggie Gentry, senator; and Lynn Dent, speaker pro tempore.

To broaden their understanding of advertising, the Distributive Education Club began the year with a trip to the Times-World News Building. Guided by their sponsor, Mrs. Margaret Crosier, members conducted a survey of the teen-age consumer market and attended the D.E.C.A. district conference in Rocky Mount. H. R. Blankenship and Sandra Naff represented the club at the Virginia State Leadership Conference. Evelyn Tinsley, Dottie Nelson, Frances Soyars, and Sandra Blackburn were on the courtesy corps for the conference held at Hotel Roanoke. H. R. Blankenship was runner-up for vice president of the western district, and was chosen to attend the National D. E. convention in Chicago.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

"Contributing to the Joys and Satisfactions of Family Living" was the theme for Fleming's Future Homemakers Chapter under the sponsorship of Mrs. Dailey Sloan and Miss Shelby Jean Lucy. In November, Mrs. June Radford spoke on "Marriage—Now or Later?" Class studies of comparative home life of various countries were supplemented by individual projects of girls working on chapter homemaker degrees. During FHA week these projects were displayed in each hall. A knitting club open to the entire school was formed to teach girls how to knit sweaters. In the spring, the chapter sold cookbooks to raise money for awards and to send a delegate to the state convention at Old Point Comfort.

Planning a future meeting are Susan Peters, treasurer; Dale Showalter, vice-president; Betty Edwards, president; Sandra Marshall, secretary; and Joann Dillard.

Fleming's Future Teachers began the year's activities by attending the District P meeting at Andrew Lewis in Salem. During National Education Week they prepared bulletin boards and gave a program at faculty meeting where they presented an apple to each teacher. They also held a reception for teachers who were new to the Roanoke school system. In April, members visited elementary schools to observe teaching methods. In the spring, a tea was given for honor graduates, and members received their pins in the annual awards assembly.

Realizing the importance of speaking a second language, members of the Spanish Club began a year of intensified effort to master spoken Spanish. Knowing, too, the future importance to America of good relations with South America, the club made a thorough study of South American countries, including Brazil, Chile, and Bolivia. They used their club dues to furnish a paperback library of books on Spanish background for Spanish classes. One of the monthly meetings was devoted to a lecture on Spain delivered by Miss Jane Elliot, Hollins College Spanish student, who studied there for a year. The club ended the year with a banquet which featured entertainment by various club members.

Giving additional opportunity for individual development through the study of modern history, the Advanced History Club combined club and curriculum as a new approach in the art of learning. A paperback book store operated by members during their study halls, a concession stand worked by industrious members after school, and three appearances on "Klassroom Kwiz" provided both a service to the school and the money for a trip to Washington in May.

ATHLETICS

Unequaled enthusiasm together with team and individual prowess resulted in a championship year in the rhythm of Fleming life. The football squad learned more than the Spartan theory of physical endurance as they included sportsmanship in winning the district championship. Throughout the regular basketball season and into tournament play, the Colonel cagers won numerous games before thousands of supporters. The varsity wrestlers captured the Western District title and placed high in the state meet. In spring sports, baseball and track, boys competed with one another and functioned as a team. On the girls' side of the gym, afternoons saw practice in volleyball and basketball, and the stage was used for modern dance rehearsals. Individual and team coordination effected a winning rhythm with harmony in a major key.

The William Fleming Colonels ended their most successful season since 1952 with an 8-1-1 record and the first Western District Championship Team in the history of the school. Highlights of the season came as the Colonels defeated E. C. Glass by a score of 35 to 7, and Halifax by 13 to 12. The win over the Halifax Comets marked the first homecoming victory in six years. Five of Fleming's starters made the Western District Honor Team. They are Bob Crenshaw, Reggie Gentry, Ron Bingham, Lynn Dent, and Mike Hunt. Crenshaw also placed on the State Group 1A team.

WILLIAM BYRD

After a well-deserved victory over Richlands, the Colonels entered their second game, a decided favorite over the Terriers of William Byrd. The Colonels displayed a hard-nosed defense which stopped the Terriers from mounting any serious offensive threat. Both of Fleming's scores came in the first half, the second on a thirty-three yard pass from Picot Frazier to Skip Kidd. At left, Mike Hunt (42) sweeps right end followed by Roger Brown (34) and a host of Byrd tacklers.

E. C. GLASS

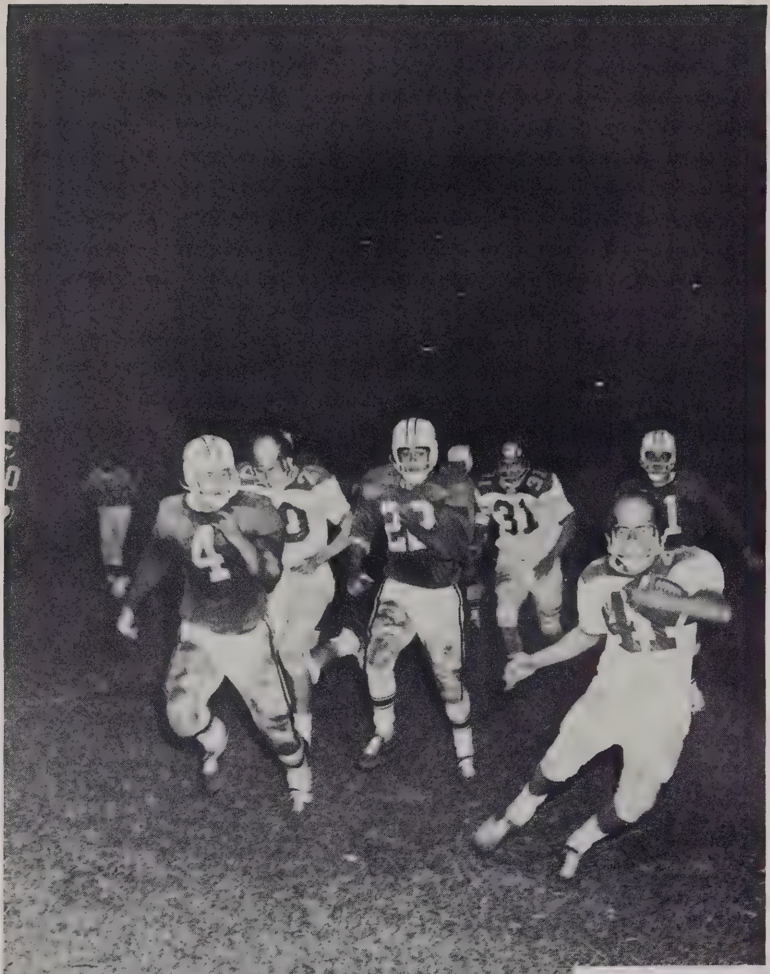
An excited crowd of 7,000 watched as the Colonels crushed the defending Western District title holders, E. C. Glass, in a 32-7 tilt. Fleming's speedy backs proved to be the difference against the big, but slow Hilltoppers. Fleming's first score came as Mike Hunt sprinted 59 yards down the sidelines, untouched by Glass defenders. Other touchdowns were scored by Christian, Kidd, McCarty, and Frazier. At the right, Skip Kidd races for the end zone after catching a pass from Frazier.

PATRICK HENRY

The Colonels, supporting a 3-0 record, staged a small miracle to salvage a tie with their City-County and Western District rival Patrick Henry. Fleming got off to a roaring start as Kyle Christian took the opening kickoff and rambled 84 yards to score the first touchdown of the game. The Patriots, however, took advantage of a short kick and moved in from the 28 for the score. The Patriots scored again in the third quarter and were ahead 13-6 when Picot Frazier, with just 2:04 left on the clock, passed to Mike Hunt to even the score. At right, Christian (41) slices off left tackle as Mike Blasiole and Barton Whitlock (47) move in.

ANDREW LEWIS

Fleming's only loss of the season came at the hands of Andrew Lewis of Salem. Statistically it was Fleming, as the Colonels led in yardage and first downs. Andrew Lewis got the breaks as the Colonels gave up sure scores on a fumble at the goal line and an intercepted pass. Picot Frazier scored Fleming's only touchdown in the first quarter on a quarterback keep. The extra point fell short, and this was all the Wolverines needed. In the fourth quarter Don Russo swept left end for the score. They successfully converted for the game winning point. At right Mike Hunt is stopped after short gain as Dan Wheeling (32) and Steve Cromer (30) move in.



TAZEWELL

Fleming turned into a battering ram as it stayed on the ground to beat Tazewell 7-0. The Colonels, winning their sixth game against one loss and a tie, marched 86 yards on the ground in the third quarter for the game's only touchdown. The margin could have been greater as the Fleming reserves were on the one-yard line when the game ended. The deepest Bulldog penetration into Colonel territory came in the second period when they moved to the Colonel 37. The biggest ground gains for the Colonels on their winning march were a 9 yard shot by Steve McCarty and a 10 yard run by Russell King as the Colonels ripped the Tazewell line. Russell King (13) high steps the Tazewell line as Steve McCarty (31) leads the way.

HALIFAX

Fleming's homecoming was highly successful as the Colonels crept past the Halifax Comets in a tight 13-12 battle. Fleming struck first in the first period as Steve McCarty plunged over from the one yard line. The half-time score stood 7-0. A pair of second half touchdowns put the Comets in front 12-7 and kept the entire stadium in suspense. Then, with just 2:38 remaining in the game, the Colonels covered an astounding 62 yards in just 37 seconds and scored the winning touchdown. After a pass interference penalty which gave the Colonels the ball in their own territory, Picot Frazier passed to Mike Hunt on the 21. On the next play Hunt ran to the outside, cut back to the middle and went over standing up. At right, Kyle Christian tries to turn the corner followed by Morningstar (4), Tuck (10) and Seabolt (22).

JEFFERSON

Fleming's annual rivalry with the Jefferson Magicians proved to be as exciting as the previous games in the series. Fleming, controlling the ball all of the first half, led at half time by a score of 13-0. In the second half Jefferson roared back to run the score to 13-6. In the fourth quarter they moved the ball to the Fleming six, before being stopped by a determined Colonel squad. Picot Frazier then gave the visitors an intentional safety, to make the score 13-8. This is the way the score stood when the final gun sounded. Below: Ronnie Martin (91) led by Hunt (42) is flanked by Magician tackler Hatcher (88), Carr (80) and Faucette (61).

Fleming's Skip Kidd breaks from his defender to lay the ball in for a sure two points, as Patrick Henry's Jackie Burrows (21) looks on.

After many lean years, Fleming supported the best team in the history of the school. The Colonels broke all school records as they played 14 games without a defeat before first losing a heartbreaker to George Washington of Danville, then a week later being defeated by E. C. Glass by one point. The Colonels captured the mythical City-County title by posting a 10-0 record against area rivals. Two Colonels, Picot Frazier and Skip Kidd, paced the Western district honor team. One of the biggest disappointments of the season came as the Colonels were edged 56-57 by Danville in the finals of the Western Southwestern District Tournament; however, they earned a berth in the State tournament at Richmond.

Cheerleaders exemplify good sportsmanship

Through posters, pep assemblies, and outgoing enthusiasm, the cheerleaders gave the student body an example of school spirit to follow. Besides providing encouragement, they aided the athletic program by helping in the Booster Club's "Gas-o-rama" and by selling membership cards and doughnuts. Under their sponsorship, a twenty-fifth anniversary cake was presented to Coach Fred Smith during the annual homecoming celebration. Linda Moore, Carolyn Haley, Betty Patterson, Lynn Belcher, and Carol Pearn cheered for an insurance convention at Hotel Patrick Henry in December. Baseball team wins City-County title

The Colonel baseball team rounded out a winning season with a record of 12 wins and 10 losses. Under the leadership of co-captains Picot Frazier and Lynn Dent they captured the mythical city-county title, with a perfect 6-0 record, before being upset in the Western-District tournament by Glass.

Co-captains Lynn Dent and Picot Frazier and Coach Dan Wooldridge led their team to a winning season.

Gordon Wimmer tags home scoring a run against Danville.

Fleming's Picot Frazier slides safely into third as Coach Wooldridge looks on.

The track team, coached by Mr. David Osborne and Mr. Larry Arrington, composed largely of juniors and sophomores, successfully completed its best record in recent years. Depth was the main asset as the tracksters won three and lost only one. The highlight of the season came as the team edged E. C. Glass 57-50 in a dual meet in Lynchburg.

Robert Winstead strains as he practices his winning form in the discus.

J. D. Henderlite attempts a short jump shot over Mike Sledd.

Intramurals played an important part in Fleming's athletic program. For the first time an active program, led by Mr. Larry Arrington, gave non-varsity players the chance to participate in an athletic event. Teams were formed by each unit and had a regular season. The season ended with a tournament in which the Camper Flockers defeated the Hart Trotters for the championship.

G. A. A. officers: Elaine Akers, vice-president; Rosie Lunsford, president; Jean Kelly and Wanda Harris, unit chairmen; and Wanda Beggs, point-keeper.

To develop an interest in physical fitness, the G.A.A. sponsored a varied program of activity. Individual participation in gymnastics, bowling, archery, badminton, and ping pong, and teamwork in volleyball, basketball, and tennis were emphasized. Intramurals were added to give more girls an opportunity to participate. The club raised money through play days, a physical education demonstration, and a modern dance show, and enlivered their program with a wiener roast, a spaghetti supper, and a trip to Douthat State Park.

As we compose the lyrics of our lives through education, the notes are arranged in a manner creating a harmonious melody of school. In a musical composition, a melody is defined at the beginning and repeated throughout. Education is like such a melody in that its tempo is echoed through the future.

Harmony will continue to strike high notes, accenting our every endeavor. As we ascend we now experience "Harmony in a Major Key".

Jay,
Well we've made it and I never [illegible] and I'm glad! I've known you [illegible] a sweet and cute girl a lot of luck. Be good! (HA)
Love ya

Jay,
Jay Mills (310

I'll sign up here next to my best buddy. Anyway I sure have had fun failing Biology tests that you pass. Never forget all my problems and how much I talk. Have a big blast this summer and next year.
See you around

Good luck to a real sweet girl.
We sure have had fun
in Algebra and Latin classes.
Ha! Ha! Good luck the summer and see you next year.
Love,
Judith Rowe

Fortuna et felicitas
tibi sint sempiternum!
M. N. Marmion

Jay,
The best of luck and happiness to a real keen of an English student.
I hope to have you in some of my classes next year.
Love ya,

Best Wishes to a fine student and young lady. Keep using that head of yours. There is a lot of ability in it. Mr. Lipscomb

So a real wacky girl who has the wildest parties, especially the one I missed
Don't forget our crazy times in Latin class with Mrs. M.
Oook! Be good and take care see you this summer.
Love Ya
Alan

Hello there Joyful,
Your going to send
Mr. Turner to the Hospital one of these days. Lots of luck and I hope to see you this summer and next year.
Love Ya!
David Shelton

Keep smiling, don't work extra hard, and be happy! Good luck –
J. T. Turner

Joy,
Lots of luck to a sweet and smart girl. Don't ever forget English class.
Be good and I'll see you next year.
Love ya?
Pat Corell

Joy (Oh! BAD),
Best of everything little ol' thing to you always. Thanks for curing (or partly curing) my mental illness. Those cards sure do help. Hope you have enjoyed the fun with me as much as I have with you. Stay as cute, sweet, (you know, and all that stuff) and especially CRAZY. Hope to see you this summer and,
of course, next year.
Love Ya Always!
Linda Ingram
(BEAU.)

Joy,
It's been fun this year hasn't it. We'l never forget Mr. Turn and Mrs Marmion
I think Mr. T. was on your side!..
Best of luck always. Have a good summer and I'll see you next year.
Be good
Sandy Buchana

Joy,
Lots of luck and best wishes to a great girl. It's really been fun knowing you.

Hey Brenda ~~Lush~~ Lots of luck to a real nice girl remember all of those rare classes (Ha)
It's been great knowing you this year. See you this summer and next year.

Joy, - This year has been a real blast! Remember all the fun we had in Latin class and at your parties!
Sometime this summer
I hope to have one.
This summer at the lake ought to be fun and if you still want to I'm willing Danny
Webster to race (still, even)
Be good this summer and I hope we're in classes together next year at good ole Flemin' High.
Best wishes to a real cute girl.
Love ya,
Dave Smith.
P.S. Don't forget the lunch room encounter with proxy.
Be sure to come to our cabin and ski we'll have a blast. - Smitty
Smith

Best of luck to a real sweet girl.
Don't forget mob-
monster and blonde.
Good luck to you and Ray although I don't understand the whole situation. Hope to see you next year.
Donna Lyon

Hello Joy,
How ya doing.
It sure has been fun knowing you in English class. See ya next year.
Love
Harry Wise

Joy,
Lots of luck to a great girl. Don't forget all the fun in both English classes. Don't forget Mr. Turper, Mrs Marmin, etc.
I can't believe that we'll be juniors next year. Have fun this summer and be good. See you next year.
Love ya!
Sally Hicks

Joey, Best of luck to a real friend. I have enjoyed knowing you in English Class this year. See you next year..

Brenda Mills. (Jay) - Senorita - Don't kick too much this summer (if you can master it) (HA)

I guess this is the end of another great year in School. Even though we weren't in any classes together we still saw each other on the bus, (remember how late we always were) and before 3rd period. I know I'll never forget my first year at Fleming even though I was a sophomore, or will I forget those concerts and little "outings" we took after school. You are the only person I know that can 3 or 4 parties in one year and get away with it (Successfully, of course). Try to be good this summer and maybe we can go places together (HA! Just like we wouldn't try). Take care of the family and don't do anything I wouldn't do.

See ya around!! Jayne A. Kelley

P.S.) Remember my trips with you to Symphony and to Music Camp? Good luck with SRU (if you want to).

Dearest Jody-poo

I'll ever forget the wild times we've had this year. I know you won't!
Remember proletariat P.A.U.L...
(Please forgive Heathcliff. he was writing this for me and he has these delusions of being a mirror)
... and the fun we've had in gym and Latin. Long life (at least 15 years) Luck, and all that jazz. Well, I'm going to put on my high-heel tenny pumps and my shades and run around the cell a couple of times before they lock me in -

Bonā Fortunā
Franniceā

P.S. - Remember the P.E. assembly, and BALL?

(Sorry about the writing, but our house is sliding away

Be good to all the (K/W) and behave like a sister should. Don't fly off the handle.

Boy! You gotta watch these chairs with wheels on them!

Joy,
I have really loved this year with you & have been great. I have enjoyed every bit of your witty humor and ways.
Your parties were always lovely and I will dance like a bird or a dog. Come to see me all summer. See you all the time.
Love ya,
Olin R. Mclelmmon

Best of luck to a real nut!
Never remember all the horrible torture we went through in dear old 3:10!!
We'll probably get her for Am. Hist. next year!
Best of luck, too, on that good old French culture report. Don't forget all the good old lunch Joy, periods and the long, drawn out jokes!!

well, Keep up the good sense of humor and have a ball this summer. You're a swell, good old girl!! Oh,
I almost forgot (how could I??) your party!! Thanks for all the fun there!! Love ya lots!! Kathryn Reynolds

I have had fun been in front of you in history!
God bless and keep you and your,
Sometimes
Newell

Joy, Best of luck to a real sweet gal.
Remember all the fun we had in Algebra, Biology, Latin, and French. Remember the yells and the tomatoes. Remember the fun we had in Gym. Don't forget Miss Walton and her nerves and Mr. Turner and His Nicolo Doll and Annie Bell!! See you this summer and next year. Isn't this (ex) individuse! Oh yes. I'll remember all those pictures when you become a famous artist. How's your little dogs older?
I better go Because of Mr. Turner.
Love ya,
Sue H.

P.S. Fun! I'm coming over to see the puppies.
P.S. How about that party!

Joy,
Well, its the end of another great year, and boy have we had a blast! Remember always the trip to Martinsville and all the fun we had with Randy, John, George, etc.
Remember Symphony and all the concerts. I hope we get in some classes next year as Latin, what a class! May God Bless You.
See ya
Carol

Joy,
Best wishes to a great kid. I've really had a blast being in gym with you and your good Buddy T. Have loads of fun this summer. Be good and if you can't don't forget me.
Barbara Whitacre

Joy,
Luck in the future to a very sweet and cute girl. Remember all the times we had in health and gym. I hope to see you next year.
Cathy

Joy,
Well the school year is all most over and I'm glad. Best of luck in the future. I hope you achieve your goals in life. God Bless you always.
Love ya
Shirley Kling
PS. Remember World History class.

Joy.
Best of luck to a real swell girl and have fun this summer. (OH BHO!)
Jimmy Whitmore

Good Luck Always to a real great girl!
Mrs. "Bestie" Chewning

Have a ~~great~~ great time at camp and I hope that you will learn the "skip" this summer.
Love Kay Watson

Joy,
Best wishes and good luck always. It has been a blast knowing you, you are a cute and sweet girl with a lot of "smart." Use it wisely and you will go far. Have a great summer and see you next year,
Love Ya!,

Joy,
It's been a great year & mine
had a lot of fun.
Don't forget Algebra. & those parties of yours! Don't draw too many "flies" or brides!
Be good & have fun this summer.
Love ya,
Marilyn

May the Good Lord Bless You and Keep You

Love Ya!
Diane Stout

Don't ever forget good ole Latin class, Mrs. Marmion and Ed.

Best wishes to sweet girl who deserves everything. Don't forget Mrs. Biology Painter (♂ ♀)

When the golden sun is setting and the earth you no longer trod, may your name in gold be written in the autograph of God!!

Joy - (Minny)
Well, well - another year has gone. All your parties and such.
Face it Hart Hall is best - it's got you!
I know you'll never forget Mr. Turner and Algebra with his
"SHUT UP" and
"BULL" - but maybe you can Tay. Be good and I'll see ya this summer.

A friend forever -

Best wishes to a very lively girl and a good student. I have enjoyed our year together.
Mrs Painter

Lots of Luck to a real cute girl with one heck of a personality. It has really been fun this first year at Fleming for us, hasn't it?! * Good luck always in the future. Have fun in the summer months and plan to see you next season.
